

WOMEN IN BUSINESS

Lezlee Liljenberg

Lezlee Liljenberg, owner of the Allstate Insurance - Lezlee Liljenberg Agency, has been providing compassionate and dynamic service as an agent for clients for the past 18 years. Indeed, her knack for connecting with – and then finding solutions for – her customers has earned the affable Liljenberg a loyal following, dating virtually to her first day on the job.

“My husband inspired me to become an agent,” she says. “At the time he was a manager with Allstate, and my love for helping people has always been my passion. It was a great fit.”

Liljenberg’s agency specializes in more than just the conventional home and auto realms for which Allstate is well known. In fact, that’s one of the aspects of working with a national company that most appeals to her – she can offer a variety of practical and beneficial solutions to clients’ insurance needs via more than 200 of the top insurance carriers.

“As a small-business owner, I understand the importance of building a solid foundation for the future and developing long-lasting customer relationships,” she says. “That’s why I’m committed to offering you the same level of service I expect. When you work with my agency, I want you to feel confident, informed, assured and satisfied.”

Liljenberg works alongside “six incredible women every day” to provide the best options for their customers. “In these tough times,” she says, “I think we all need to remember to be kind to one another and that we are all human – that is our mantra to live by every day.”

The agency offers insurance products in the realms of Auto, Home, Business, Life, Condo, ATV, Renters, Boat and Motorcycle, and the team is constantly looking for the best ways to exceed customer expectations in each.

“I am a true student of insurance,” Liljenberg says. “I recently completed three years of additional training to obtain three new designations: CIC-Certified Insurance Consultant, MLIS-Management Liability Insurance Specialist and CRIS-Construction Risk & Insurance Specialist. That desire for knowledge is important to being able to assist clients with a level of information that sets us apart from most agencies. I take the responsibility of protecting people’s assets very seriously. It concerns me that companies have made insurance into such a joke and act like it is just about the ‘cheapest prices.’ Having a sense of humor is great, but the difficulties that agents face every day in order to help their customers is no laughing matter.”

That’s one of the reasons she has kicked off a campaign of “Insurance Agents R Heroes 2.” Her plan is to take this message nationwide. Last year, the agency introduced “Garage Girls Passion,” which is an interactive event to teach females of all ages about insurance, auto maintenance and safety. “You can see I am passionate about this,” she says.

Liljenberg’s passion extends beyond the office walls, where, on any given day you’ll find her enjoying metal sculpting, writing, cooking, public speaking and philanthropy.

If you are a licensed agent and looking for a great place to advance your career, call Lezlee.

Reba Blevens

As the owner of Media Matrix, Reba Blevens specializes in Advertising, Marketing and Public Relations, including Media Buying and Planning, Marketing Strategies and Production Services, including print, radio and television. In other words, if you have a product/service/brand you think the public needs to know about, Blevens not only will help you spread the word – she will get people excited to hear it.

“I love the creative process,” she says. “No two days are alike.” As much as she enjoys her job, it’s just one facet of what makes Reba, Reba. In fact, she’s generally as busy outside the office serving in her community as she is at work.

“I love my life,” she says. “I’ve enjoyed a great deal of success. I believe when our lives are blessed, it is our responsibility to bless the lives of others. You get what you give.”

To that end, Blevens supports Alliance for Children, serving as co-chair for “The Great Conversation Dinner” in Fort Worth in 2015 with Elizabeth Smart as the keynote and in 2016 with Charles Haley as the keynote. The money raised for those events support the ongoing efforts to fight child abuse and increase awareness in Tarrant County.

She credits friend, mentor and civic activist Jerry McCullough for her participation in Mission Arlington Basketball & Baseball Camps supporting underprivileged children with an opportunity to learn basic skills in sports and the Salvation Army Family Life

Center Advisory Council supporting the families living in the FLC with basic necessities, financial support, fund raising events.

She has become a regular Salvation Army Red Kettle “Bell Ringer,” something that was “far from my comfort zone when I agreed to help.” After the first year, she personally witnessed families with so little willing to share what they had with those less fortunate. “My heart was grateful for the gifts I saw in giving from those with so little to give,” she says. “This experience truly captures the spirit of our community. I actually look forward to it today!”

She is also active with the Arlington ISD Education Foundation, serving as President this year. “This foundation serves the public school students of Arlington through fulfilling extraordinary needs and initiatives,” she says. “This is a particularly challenging year with online learning and the specific needs created by this challenge. We’ve also had to be extremely creative in fundraising initiatives with a comedy show and virtual bingo. We’re hopeful this event will allow us to generate the much needed funds to assist the teachers and students in Arlington.”

Blevens says much of her professional and civic success is rooted in a number of inspirations, starting with the noted automobile magnates, the Moritz family. “I have worked for them since 1996,” she notes. “I was fortunate to be involved in some of their philanthropic endeavors. I saw the difference they made in our community. I respect and admire them.”

She also credits the aforementioned McCullough, who was her ninth grade history teacher at Ferguson Junior High 50 years ago. “It was his first year to teach, and he wanted every single student to be successful,” she recalls. “I am inspired by his tireless efforts (along with his wife, Becky) to make Arlington a better place. They have touched me and challenged me to go beyond my ‘comfort zone’ to help the less fortunate in our community.”

She’s also very partial to the Jeff Williams family. “Mayor Williams and his wife, Karen have been personal friends for years,” she says. “I am amazed at the work and dedication this family has given to our city.”

Ultimately, she says, she has become a benefactor because she was able to be a beneficiary: “These people have all shown me the impact we can have and the difference we can make in the lives of the people around us.”

Dr. Melissa Danchak

Dr. Melissa Danchak began working at Kos/Danchak Audiology in 1997. She has owned the practice since 2002. Dr. Danchak earned her Bachelors in Communication Disorders from Abilene Christian University.

She then earned her Masters in Audiology from The University of Texas at Dallas, and then earned her Doctorate of Audiology (Au.D.) from the University of Florida. With over 23 years of experience helping those with hearing challenges in the Arlington and surrounding communities, Dr. Danchak's passion for providing unparalleled care and service for her patients is on full display with the 100's of online reviews her patients are sharing.

While her formal education gave her the book knowledge needed to become an audiologist, Dr. Danchak certainly believes that learning is a lifelong process. "Like any small business, we experience change, adversity, success, and a whole host of other "stuff" on a regular basis. We try to learn, every day. We evaluate how we help people and we try to make the hearing health care experience better for the people that we meet with each day. Our goal is for each person to have a better experience with us every time they visit. The fact that we have thousands of patients that have been trusting us with their hearing needs for 10 and 15 years tells us that we are doing a good job of providing a positive experience for our patients. We are also very fortunate to have tremendous support from the manufacturers in the hearing health care industry. They will often present ideas that help us improve the delivery of our services. Their perspective is invaluable and has helped us stay ahead of the curve when it comes to patient care!"

At Kos/Danchak Audiology, they live by a fairly simple (professional) philosophy: do our absolute best to serve our patients and fellow employees to the best of our ability; continue to learn and grow, every day, so that we can accomplish that in the best way possible!

Dr. Danchak says, "we make a difference in people's lives. We see it on their faces when they hear and understand clearly what a loved one is saying. We see it when a spouse or child experiences the feeling of being able to communicate again without raising their voice or repeating themselves. Patients and their families share with us that their investment in better hearing, and us, has changed their lives. It's not always easy for people to admit that they have hearing loss or that they need hearing aids. We know we make a difference in people's lives because so many of the new patients we meet each day are referrals from current patients that we have been helping for years! It doesn't get any better than that."

Dr. Amy Schoening

Dr. Amy Schoening started her practice in Mansfield in January of this year with a simple principle: Every patient is different, and every person's individual needs are unique. That's why Dr. Schoening and her staff strive to get to know each patient and work with them one-on-one to develop a treatment plan that fits their specific needs.

"Every treatment plan is uniquely designed, but the goal is always the same – a healthy mouth, strong and functional teeth free of pain, and a beautiful smile that builds confidence," Dr. Schoening says. "At Schoening, DDS, patients can expect the highest quality of customized care, because to us it's not just about teeth, it's about people and their quality of life."

Dr. Schoening has deep roots in dentistry, having practiced for more than two and half decades, most recently in Arlington before taking a year off to prepare for the opening of Amy Schoening, DDS. She says she is excited about her new venture – and her new opportunity to transform lives by giving people back a smile her patients can be proud of.

"With time to reflect over the last year, I'm planning to build a perfect, small dental practice that will reflect me and my vision for dental care. Practicing will be both fun and rewarding for many years to come."

Dr. Schoening is supported by a compassionate and talented team that includes Melissa Westlund, Allison Guice and Tiffany Bowles.

Westlund joined Dr. Schoening after living and working as a dental assistant in Austin for 10 years. She has been a dental assistant for 16 years and loves helping others improve their smile and help educate patients in oral health. Westlund worked with Dr. Schoening right out of school in 2004 and is very excited to be reunited and working alongside Dr. Schoening again in her new practice.

Guice lives in Grapevine and has called Texas her home since 2001. She started her dental career with Dr. Schoening in 2003 and is happy for the new adventure in Mansfield. She especially loves the opportunity to educate patients on their dental health and seeing the transformation of a new smile.

Bowles began working as an assistant during school breaks and her love for the field grew as she later went on to become a hygienist. She has served in that capacity for 10 years and looks forward to continuing being part of a team that helps patients stay healthy and enjoy the dental going experience.

Collectively, the specialists at Amy Schoening, DDS provide comprehensive dental care, including a hygiene program, periodontal therapy, crowns, bridges, and fillings. The practice also offers state-of-the-art solutions with regards to cosmetic dentistry, implant services and Invisalign.

While the services Dr. Schoening provides patients include those staples of the practice, that's not what she believes will set Amy Schoening, DDS apart.

"I think my fierce attention to detail and always trying to treat the patient as an individual – not just treating their teeth – is important," she says. "Also, I've always tried to treat others the way I would want to be treated. My leadership style comes from my heart and a place of compassion."

Julie Short

The Julie Short Team is a full-service real estate team, proficient at working with sellers and buyers. Owner Julie Short says she and her colleagues are focused on customer service and on being available to assist their clients, doing whatever is necessary to ensure a satisfying home buying/selling experience.

Short says one key to her company's success is its team approach to addressing clients' needs. "If we are listing a house, we have a connection to get it 'Show Ready' with any repairs and touch-ups that need to be done," she says. "We have a wonderful photographer and great inspectors we work with. We have excellent lenders we recommend. When the inspection report comes back, we have a company that coordinates any repairs. If clients purchase a home and want to remodel, we have people for that. We really try to take all the guess work out of the process and take care of as much as the clients are willing to allow."

Short and her team embrace a simple philosophy. "I believe in balance in everything and living by the golden rule," she says. "I really believe if you will treat others how you would like to be treated, you will never lack for business."

She says her husband (Stoney Short) is a huge inspiration: "He has never let his circumstances or his past hold him back. He has always had big vision. It used to scare me when he would share all the things he wanted to do because I know the bigger you try, the bigger you can fail. But, I realized that was my own fear holding me back. Over the years, his ability to dream big has given me that same ability, and now I can share that with others. Not trying is the biggest failure any of us can have. DO NOT let fear of failure hold you back!"

Brenda Hunt

Brenda Hunt, owner of Great Skin Spa & Facial Club, began her career in the skin care and beauty business more than a dozen years ago as the first U.S. franchisee of Canadian-based Faces cosmetics. Taking that experience, she founded Great Skin Spa & Facial Club 10 years ago in Arlington, where the company has continued to grow and gain notoriety as an exceptional day spa and skin care provider.

At Great Skin she not only shares her experience in creating and maintaining beautiful skin via state-of-the-industry technology and products; she also has championed the practice of receiving professional spa services as part of personal care, as opposed to a special occasional visit or gift due to affordability. Great Skin Facial Club members receive a wide range of treatment options at the spa, as well as guidance and products they can use at home to maintain fresh, youthful-looking skin.

"I developed the concept of Great Skin based on the goals of the thousands of clients – men and women – wanting to have more beautiful skin and manage the signs of aging skin through treatments, knowledge and skin care," Hunt says.

As a result, Great Skin offers a full line of award-winning skin care products for anti-aging, acne, hyperpigmentation and general skin care, as well as skin and body care for men, women and teens. Two years ago, Hunt introduced a product paying homage to her mother, Mattie, who was afflicted with Alzheimer's: "Hemp Healing Cream" for skin and body care. GS is also known for its instant slimming treatments, and it now offers a special credit card that can be used specifically for beauty and health services.

Most recently, Hunt began an effort to heighten awareness and implement operating principals of disease control to keep clients and staff safe and healthy. "Also," she notes, "we specialize in treating every skin type, tone and texture with excellent results from knowledge, education and experience."

Great Skin offers a turnkey franchise program that includes everything needed to successfully own and operate your own Great Skin Spa & Facial Club. "It's about partnership at Great Skin," Hunt says. "Our slogan is 'Relax, Rewind, Renew!,' and we are proud to share those values with our clients and franchisees."

Kelley says her group employs a team approach that allows each member to utilize their gifts and strengths, while creating synergy that helps produce the best results for clients.

“These experiences have led to priceless relationships, which are a blessing to me personally, help in leading the team, and have created a network that benefits our clients,” she says. “We often know about homes before they officially hit the market, which is key in this current low-inventory market. And when we put homes on the market we purposefully utilize proven strategies to get multiple offers so the seller gets the most money for their home in the shortest amount of time.”

That kind of service is a hallmark of the Brandee Kelley Group, and its leader says it hasn’t gone unnoticed: “Someone recently said the following about our team: ‘This team has dedicated their lives to assisting clients with what is likely the biggest investment of their life, and they take that role very seriously.
