

Home SWEET! Home

This unique Mansfield abode proves that traditional doesn't have to be boring

Classy never goes out of style, and this house is a great example of just that. This home has some unique features not seen before, but also has some tried and true elements taken to the next level.

Elegant kitchens continue to be a focal point in home design, and the addition of wine refrigerators and wine cellars have been on the increase. This home has a beautiful wine room and allows for a peak inside from the stairway window. The tiled groin ceiling transports you to an Italian getaway and the color of choice says royalty resides here. We continue to see wallpaper maintaining its position as a design must for savvy homeowners and stepping out with paint colors is back in style.

The olympic-size pool is not something you see everyday in a residential neighborhood, and neither is the "catio" attached to the exterior of the house. The "catio" also has an entry into the home so that the felines can explore and exercise at will. Popular shows, such as The Home Edit, lend to the increased focus on closet design, and I am a fan. Pick all the things you love, and you can enjoy the home of your dreams.

For more information on making your dream your address contact The Julie Short Team and Mansfield Custom Homes at 682-552-4384 or email julie@mchtexas.com.

— Julie Short 